Re: Review of revisions to previously submitted financing documents for the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin

Dear Chairman Delgado:

On December 27, 2011, the National Indian Gaming Commission's Office of General Counsel (OGC) issued a declination letter for certain proposed financing agreements for the Oneida Tribe of Indians of Wisconsin (Tribe). On January 11, 2012, legal counsel for the Tribe, Aaron Harkins, submitted proposed amendments to two of the previously submitted financing agreements: the amended and restated credit agreement; and, the fourth amendment to the loan agreement for tax-exempt notes. Mr. Harkins requested, on behalf of the Tribe, written confirmation that the proposed amendments do not affect the opinion expressed in the December 27, 2011, declination letter.

The submitted amendments do not substantially change the financing agreements. The amendments clarify certain defined terms, fill-in blank spaces with specific dollar amounts, update the dates to reflect the new year, and correct grammatical errors contained in the previously submitted financing agreements. None of the proposed amendments implicate management or violate IGRA's sole proprietary interest requirement. Accordingly, the opinion expressed in the December 27, 2011 declination letter stands.

Please note that the proposed amendments were submitted to us as unexecuted drafts. To the extent that they change in any material way prior to closing, this opinion shall not apply.

Further, the January 11, 2012 letter indicates that counsel for Bank of America requests confirmation that "the opinions expressed in the Declination Letter extend to 'Collateral Documents' as defined in the Credit Agreement which were submitted for [NIGC Office of General Counsel] review." That is correct. The December 27, 2011 opinion extends to "Collateral Documents," as defined by the Credit Agreement, that were submitted and reviewed by the NIGC Office of General Counsel.
