NIGC Will Hold Regulatory Review Consultation in Washington, DC

Washington, DC June 29, 2011 — The National Indian Gaming Commission (NIGC/Commission) will hold a consultation on July 28 - 29, 2011 in the Department of the Interior (DOI) South Auditorium in Washington, DC. This consultation session is an opportunity for Tribal leaders to provide the Commission with substantive input during the regulatory review process.

The Commission organized its review into five regulation groups. Each will proceed separately through three phases: 1) an initial phase when a preliminary draft regulation may be prepared; 2) thereafter the Commission may decide to move forward with publication of a proposed rule, if any, with an approximately sixty-day comment period; and 3) a final phase during which the Commission may decide to promulgate a final rule. Where necessary, a regulation may proceed through the regulatory review process independently from the other regulations in a particular group.

Consistent with its commitment to transparency, the Commission will continue to consult with tribal governments throughout the regulatory review process. All information related to this review process can be found on our website at www.nigc.gov then click on the Tribal Consultation on the left side of the website.

The consultation scheduled for July 28 - 29, 2011 in Washington, DC will cover Groups One, Two, Three, Four and Five regulations.
